

Crestwood Day Treatment

Hillside Children's Center

Crestwood Children's Center Day Treatment Programs were developed for children age 3 to 12 who are experiencing school related and/or family problems significant enough to disrupt their education. Day Treatment provides the special educational programming, ongoing structure, support and intensive individual group and family therapy.

ABOUT THE SERVICE

A child admitted to Day Treatment will be assigned to a 6:1:1 class with other children of similar ages and academic levels. Students benefit from the educational program, regular therapy and planned recreation activities, all of which are tailored to their specific needs.

A special education teacher and teacher assistant are assigned to each classroom. The services of a psychiatrist and nurse are available. Each child is also assigned a Master's level therapist who provides clinical services and care coordination.

Day Treatment operates 215 days a year (this includes a six week summer school program). Door to door transportation is arranged through the child's home school district.

Parents can expect to be highly involved not only in treatment conferences and parent-teacher meetings, but also in a wide variety of family therapy and support services. In fact, criteria for a child's admission to Day Treatment includes the willingness of the family to participate in the overall treatment plan. In addition to regularly scheduled appointments, staff are available in crisis situations to provide advocacy, support and information.

A child's home school district's Committee on Special Education is responsible for referring to Day Treatment. The program is certified by the New York State Education Department and the New York State Office of Mental Health and depending upon the age of the child, is offered at the following locations
